Whether you're an avid hiker, a seasoned photographer, or a casual nature lover, understanding Michigan's waterfall landscape can transform your outdoor adventures.

Understanding Michigan's Waterfall Landscape

Michigan's waterfalls are primarily the result of glacial activity from the last Ice Age (approximately 10,000 years ago). As glaciers retreated, they carved out deep valleys, lakes, and rivers, creating the perfect conditions for waterfalls to form. Michigan waterfalls can be categorized based on their geological features and size:

The state offers a wide range of these types, from the iconic to the obscure, making Michigan a waterfall hunter's paradise.
